Take a Stand for Children's Health Care

800,000 California children lack health insurance.
Here in Alameda County, 27,000 children are uninsured.

Our goal is to win affordable health coverage for all children in our county and state.

We're most of the way there—about 90% of children are currently covered. To cover all kids, we're working to create a shared solution—where individual families, government and the private sector pitch in to provide a brighter future for California's children and youth.
